- Ensured data accuracy and confidentiality, improving research quality and processing time.
- Prepared and presented study reports and supported faculty with data visualization and communication of findings.
- Coordinated study logistics with researchers and supported laboratory data validation.

MENTAL HEALTH RESEARCH

- Perinatal depression among Virginia women, 2016–2022 (first author; CDC PRAMS; VPHA 2026): weighted prevalence with 95% CIs; self-reported depression during pregnancy rose from 9.4% to 16.9% (+79.8%) versus +44.8% across aggregate PRAMS sites.
- Premenstrual dysphoric disorder (PMDD) global scoping review (first author; PRISMA-ScR; APHA 2026): 1,943 records screened to 44 included studies; depression was most often reported (39 studies) and only 3 studies (6.8%) came from low- and lower-middle-income countries.
- Mayer-Rokitansky-Küster-Hauser (MRKH) syndrome scoping review (first author; PRISMA-ScR; APHA 2026): 516 records, 35 studies included; documented psychosexual, psychological, and quality-of-life outcomes and healthcare-system gaps.
- Mental health and provider availability across Virginia counties (first author; 2025 County Health Rankings, Tableau; VPHA 2026): choropleth maps and trend analyses; frequent mental distress ranged 13.5–23.6%, and childhood poverty explained far more variation ($R^2 = 0.51$) than provider supply ($R^2 = 0.08$).
- California's maternal mental health screening law (policy analysis, Kingdon's multiple streams): screening rose from 51.4% to 65.9% (2020–2024), but only 47.1% of mothers with symptoms received treatment, exposing a screening-to-care gap.
